INTRODUCTION TO THE CIVIL WAR

Slavery was certainly an issue that led to the Civil War, but there were other strong issues as well. The vast majority of southerners did not own slaves, and they most certainly would not have fought to their death to defend the handful of rich plantation owners who lived among them.

The southerners were fighting for the right of independence, to not be subject to laws laid down by the federal government, which was unduly influenced by the rich north eastern states. Southerners felt that federal legislation in general tended to economically favor the north.

The Civil War actually began in 1861 and lasted to 1865. It was prolonged by initially ineffective spirit of the south. Over half a million lives were lost in the war, making it by far the deadliest conflict in United States history.

Deaths resulted from battle, wounds in battle, disease, and starvation in prisoner of war stockades. Disease and starvation probably killed as many as combat. Some recruits from rural areas had never been exposed to common diseases, had no resistance, and quickly succumbed to measles, mumps, etc. Sanitation was very bad and others died of dysentery, small pox, diphtheria, etc., caused by impure drinking water and lack of proper waste disposal.

There was a certain brotherhood between the Union and Confederate soldiers, and when faced with overwhelming odds, the losing side would more likely surrender than fight to their death. Prisoner exchanges between the antagonists was rather frequent also. Unfortunately prisoner-of-war camps were real hell-holes, with a death rate of about 25%, from starvation and disease, this was about the same as that of Japanese prisons in WWII.

Medical knowledge was primitive and the only method of saving the life of those with serious armor leg wounds was to amputate. Surgical tents were set up at the battle sites and could quickly be identified by the piles of arms and legs outside of the tents. Anesthetics were primitive, and screams of pain filled the air.

DEFINITION OF CIVIL WAR AILMENTS

ASTHENIA: Weakness or debility.

BILIOUS REMITTENT FEVER: Archaic term for relapsing fever characterized by bilious vomiting and diarrhea.

CAMP FEVER: This term was used for all of the continuing fevers experienced by the army: Typhoid Fever, Malarial Remittent Fever, and Typho-malarial Fever. The last named is a combination of elements from the first two diseases. This combination, Typho-malarial Fever, was the characteristic "camp fever" during the Civil War. Symptoms included: a pronounced chill followed by an intermittent fever, abdominal tenderness and nausea, general debility, diarrhea, retention of urine, and furring of the tongue.

CARDITIS: Inflammation of the heart.

CATARRH: Inflammation of the mucous membranes with increased flow of mucous.

CONSUMPTION: Tuberculosis (also called Phthisis).

DIPHThERIA: Acute bacterial illness characterized by sore throat and fever; serious and even fatal complications can occur.

DROPSY: Archaic word for edema; abnormal accumulation of fluid in cells, tissues, or cavities of the body.

DYSENTERY: Various intestinal diseases with inflammation of the bowels, abdominal pain, and bloody diarrhea.

ENDOCARDITIS: Inflammation of the heart.

ERYSIPELAS: Acute inflammation of the skin and subcutaneous tissue caused by streptococcus bacteria; characterized by reddening and severe inflammation, can lead to pustules. Usually accompanied by severe constitutional symptoms.

FISTULA: Forming an abnormal hollow passage from an abscess or cavity to the skin or an organ.

HYPERTROPHY: Enlargement.

NEPHRITIS: Inflammation of the kidneys.

PHTHISIS: Tuberculosis (also called Consumption).

PILES: Hemorrhoids.

PLEURITIS (PLEURISY): Inflammation of the membrane enveloping the lungs.

RHEUMATIC FEVER: Infectious disease causing fever, pain, swelling of the joints, and inflammation of the valves of the heart.

RHEUMATISM: Chronic inflammation of the joints; also an obsolete term for rheumatic fever.

RUBEOLA: Measles.

ST. VITAS DANCE: Disorder of the central nervous system characterized by involuntary jerky movements, usually follows an attack of rheumatic fever; now called Sydenham's Chorea.

SCORBUTIC ULCERS: Ulcers caused by scurvy.

SCROFULA: Tuberculosis of the lymphatic glands especially of the neck, characterized by the enlargement and degeneration of the glands.

Civil War

SCURVY: A disease marked by debility, anemia, edema, and ulceration of the gums, due to a lack of Vitamin C.

SMALLPOX: An acute, eruptive, contagious disease caused by a virus and marked by an onset of chills, high fever, backache and headache. Skin eruptions appear in two to five days.

SYPHILIS: A venereal disease caused by a spirochete which consists of three phases. PRIMARY: Characterized by a hard chancre on the genitals; SECONDARY: Characterized by eruptions on the skin and mucous membranes and the generalized enlargement of the lymph nodes; TERTIARY: Characterized by the infection and disablement of bones, muscles, and nerve tissue.

TUBERCULOSIS: Infectious disease causing tubercles in the lungs, characterized by fever, weakness, and emaciation.

TYPHOID FEVER: Acute infectious disease characterized by continued rising fever, physical and mental depression, rose-colored spots, loss of appetite, and dry mouth with furred tongue.

TYPHOID PNEUMONIA: Pneumonia as a complication of typhoid fever.

TYPHUS: A group of acute infectious diseases characterized by severe fever, chills, weakness, joint ache and headache. Similar to Typhoid Fever. See Camp Fever.

DYSPEPSIA: term used to describe epigastric discomfort after meals. It refers to a state in the stomach in which functions are disturbed.

LISTING OF CIVIL WAR VETERANS

The listing of Civil War veterans is inexact in that some names appear to be spelled phonetically, some have type errors that cannot be verified, and some names are repeated. Names maybe repeated because more than one soldier had the same name, or because one soldier was in more than one military unit during the war. When in doubt, the spelling has been left as found, and names have been repeated for each military unit.

Sources of information for names and military service have been taken from Linda Fluharty's web page www.lindapages.com, from a list of pensioners, and from an 1890 special census. Additional information relating to the Civil War and it's veterans can be found on Linda Fluharty's web page.

An asterisk (*) has been used after the hometown to signify that the soldier is found on the Marshall County cemetery register, but not confirmed if a Marshall County resident.
